Ballad $J = 74$

When
I think of in-just-ice, then I think of you, I see it in your eyes so sad and hopeless. When I think of in-just-ice, I just can't be - lieve... that so ma - ny walk on by_ and take no no - tice... Then I want to know:

Who's look-ing out for you? Who longs to be your voice? Who would I tell the world that this op-pression has to end?_ Who dares have eyes to see?_ Who dares to make a choice?
live with-out the pro-mise of to-mor - row... Then I need to know: _

Who'll be your voice so that the world can com-pre-hend? When
When
When
I think of in-just-ice, then I think of you, the land where you were born is full of sorrow... Who's look of in-just-ice, how un-fair it is, that you live with-out the pro-mise of to-mor - row... Then I need to know: _

35

Who's look-ing out for you? Who longs to be your voice? Who will tell the world that this op-pres-

36

-sion has to end? Who dares have eyes to see? Who dares to make a choice?

41

Who'll be the one who tells the world that the world can com-pre-hend?
