One Man stood by the weak, one Man fought for justice
Gave His love, mended hearts, healed the sick, let this pass on to us

Wake up, church, there`s a new day dawning
Wake up, church, this is your time, time to give it all

Give it all, all for the kingdom, we hear the call, all for the kingdom
Lord, we give up our lives for this cause, our hearts are forever yours
On through the night, all for the kingdom, into the fight, all for the kingdom
We have been forgiven through your blood; we give it all for the kingdom of God

One Man stood against the proud, neglected false authority
He was every outcasts friend, this is our legacy

Wake up, church, there`s a new day dawning
Wake up, church, this is your time, time to give it all

Give it all, all for the kingdom, we hear the call, all for the kingdom
Lord, we give up our lives for this cause, our hearts are forever yours
On through the night, all for the kingdom, into the fight, all for the kingdom
We have been forgiven through your blood; we give it all for the kingdom of God

And when the race is won, my time on Earth is done, I`ll run to your embrace, no better place
And when You say my name,
I`m free of guilt and shame, I`ll lift my voice and sing praise to my King
Praise to the King!

Give it all, all for the kingdom, we hear the call, all for the kingdom
Lord, we give up our lives for this cause, our hearts are forever yours
On through the night, all for the kingdom, into the fight, all for the kingdom
We have been forgiven through your blood; we give it all for the kingdom of God

Look at that lonely cross, He gives his blood to heal this broken world
The sky turns dark, the thunder roars, the Earth itself is crying over what we`ve done Even his Father looks away, my King alone can pay this gruesome price for our sin and our sickness and our pain

And as He walks in death's domain in search for us, his love lights up his path
And then comes the morning, and then comes the morning sun
An Angel stands by the door, asks me; who are You looking for?
We're slaves to death no more!

Give it all, all for the kingdom, we hear the call, all for the kingdom
Lord, we give up our lives for this cause, our hearts are forever yours
On through the night, all for the kingdom, into the fight, all for the kingdom
We have been forgiven through your blood; we give it all for the kingdom of God
