1. In the des-ert, an-y-one can lose his way. No pro-tec-tion, full of dan-ger and de-cay. In the des-ert, how I search for-ing wa-ter and for bread, and for bread. In the des-ert, and o-sis can ap-pear out of no-where. All once it's ve-ry near. In the cool shade ev-ry one will find a way to lay his head, lay his head.

all things in its way. Nev-er slow-ing, ev-er flow-ing.

2. In the desert, where the sun burns, the sky many suffer and the way to God on high. In the desert how, seek refreshing shelter from the heat, from the heat.

Like a you see my heart's longing for the place, Where the water, milk and honey full of grace. I desire to come home to paradise, Your heaven sweet as heaven sweat.
